What workshops and trainings does CLT offer?
ODU’s Center for Learning and Teaching offers a wide range of faculty development workshops, brown-bag discussions, and other events throughout the year.

Workshop subjects include:

- Blackboard
- Web conferencing (Zoom, BB Ultra Collaborate)
- Instructional tools (VoiceThread, Respondus, WordPress, PowerPoint)
- Accessibility and designing for learning disabilities
- Plagiarism and copyright
- Video/audio recording strategies
- Effective teaching practices
- Technology integration (mobile apps, social media)
- Teaching strategies for online courses

Register for CLT's workshops:

- CLT Event System (CES)

Most workshops are held in CLT's Faculty Development Lab, Gornto Hall, room 101—many are also streamed via WebEx, upon request. Other CLT workshops are self-paced online in Blackboard.

On-Demand Workshops

CLT also offers custom training for departments or programs, usually if the content or technology is not covered in an existing workshop. To request an on-demand workshop, please contact CLT:

- Contact CLT

In addition, CLT produces faculty-facilitated events, such as the annual CLT Faculty Summer Conference on Teaching and Learning (mid-May).

Unique solution ID: #1050
Author: Center for Learning and Teaching
Last update: 2020-03-12 19:37